STAVANGER XL3000

The robust and universally usable backpack

The STAVANGER® XL3000 was specially developed for the needs of fire brigades and police forces. With its plastic-reinforced side walls - similar to those of a hard shell case - it is particularly stable and ideally suited for holding heavy equipment. The built-in 8 magnets hold optionally available container or system modules in place. In addition, there are numerous tabs and clear film compartments on the inside of the lid and the centre partition.
