Our elongated emergency bag

The STAVANGER® V6000 is designed as a large TRAUMA bag with a center wall pocket made of transparent film for immobilization collars, but it can also be used universally. The bag offers sufficient space for emergency use with trauma patients. In addition to immobilization collars, pelvic slings and universal splints can also be stored inside. The two halves of the bag are equipped with foil compartments for holding emergency materials. On one side, there is a large compartment, and on the other side a medium and small container, which secures the individual utensils from falling out. The emergency bag comes with a shoulder strap for comfortable carrying.
